Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) Responsive to communication(s) filed on 06 July 2004.
- 2a) This action is FINAL.                            2b) This action is non-final.
- 3) Since this application is in condition for allowance except for formal matters, prosecution as to the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

Disposition of Claims

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 3, 4, 8-14, 18-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Matsuda et al (US 6,472,092).

Matsuda et al disclose the method of controlling the temperature of the fuel reformer by sensing the temperature of the reformer, adding a first air to the reformer, heating the first air upstream from the fuel reformer, burning the first air, adding a second air, wherein the second air is cooler than the first air, mixing both first and second air, and controlling the amount of heated air and second air from the inlet (figure 3 and col. 11, lines 33-42, col. 12, lines 4-12, col. 12, line 48-col. 13, line 16, col. 13, line 36-48).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Matsuda et al (US '092) as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of JP 1-217865.

Matsuda et al disclose the claimed invention above, but fail to teach the sensor is at the inlet of the fuel reformer.

However, JP '865 discloses a temperature control sensor at the inlet of the reformer for the purpose of measuring the temperature inside the reformer in order to adjust the fuel flow.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time applicant's invention was made to provide a sensor at the inlet as taught by JP '865, in Matsuda et al in order to adjust the fuel flow.

5. Claims 5-7 and 15-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Matsuda et al (US '092) as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Towler et al (US 6,299,994).

Kumar et al disclose the claimed invention above, but fail to mention heating the air by thermal exchange, electrical heating device, or heat from a fuel cell stack.

However, Towler et al disclose heating the air either by electrical or radiation (col. 18, lines 40-42) for the purpose of initiating the partial oxidation reaction.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time applicant's invention was made to provide electrical, radiation, thermal exchange as taught by Towler et al, in Matsuda et al in order to initiate partial oxidation.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-10, 12-18, and 21 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
